MEMORANDUM FOR:

Curator, Historical Intelligence

FROM:

Director of Central Intelligence

- 1. Thanks for sending me all that material. Last weekend I put the enclosed together, taking large portions from your documents and from my Revolutionary War book. I think it's only necessary to go on and do about the same thing with South Carolina and Yorktown, plus a few intervening events.
- 2. The material taken from my book perhaps gets into too much detail and will need to be edited down. Then there's a need for some broad coverage on the general intellligence of the war which would put the whole concept of the book in context. I need to work in somewhere the Nathan Hale story and any other earlier intelligence missions and activities.
- 3. Take a look at it and let me have whatever ideas you have for rounding it out, improving and polishing it. I am quite sure I can get a commercial publisher and would let the in-house educational fund take the royalties, provided you agree. Much of the material would be yours.

Mr. Casey:

In case they might be helpful—and to clue you in on what I did in a couple places that were unclear to me—here are some notes:

- 1. Page 5, line 2. "committee of safety and correspondence."
  I notice that in your book there's a "Committee of Public Safety; in Flexner's, a "Committee of Safety"; and in "Intell. in the War...", a "Committee of Secret Correspondence." Are these all the same committee?
- 2. Page 5, para. 1. This paragraph is much the same as Page 6, paragraph 2.
  - 3. Page 6, para. 3. Note ? on the date.
- 4. Page 21A. Marking on page 16, "Intell. in the War..." not clear, but I believe you do not want this page included.
- 5. Page 29. I have paperclipped to this page a paragraph "D" marked in your book, page 69, but not on your outline. If it should be included it would be the penultimate paragraph.
- 6. Page 48. The last sentence on this page is marked paragraph "F" in Flexner's book, page 173, but not on your outline. Perhaps this sentence should be deleted.
  - 7. All excerpts from Flexner's "The Young Hamilton" are underlined.
